

Stella Bella Blanc de Blancs 2009

Limited Production - First Release

"Come quickly, I am drinking the stars"
Release date - Monday 5th December

When Dom Perignon discovered Champagne, he exclaimed "Come quickly, I am drinking the stars". Stella Bella of course means Beautiful Star! A coincidence? Possibly, but like Nostradamus, Dom Perignon may have had a vision of what was to come.....

Stella Bella Blanc de Blancs 2009 has finally arrived. As its name implies, it is made from 100% Chardonnay, hand picked from our vineyards in the southern part of Margaret River. Made using the same traditional methods of fermentation in the same bottle as that of the great Champagne houses of France. The wine shows purity, finesse, a delightful creaminess and fine acidity. With two years of lees contact imparting a delicious nutty complexity, it is a sophisticated wine in the Brut style. Supplied in 6 packs to be savoured immediately or over the next 5 to 8 years.

Stella Bella Wines senior winemaker, Stuart Pym commented "The first release of any wine gives a great sense of achievement and specialness. I love the complexity that we have been able to incorporate into this wine, while retaining a fantastic freshness and acid line. I've already run the "drink at home" test and it passes with flying colours. It's your turn now....."

Limited to just three hundred & thirty dozen bottles, and with a RRP of $35 per bottle it won't last long. To order yours and receive in time for the festive season, call Stella Bella Wines on 08-9757 6377 or email orders@stellabella.com.au or click [\[here>..\]](#) to download the order form.

We hope you will enjoy this wine as much as we did making it.

Cheers,

The Stella Bella team
